SUMMARY

Hello! I am a full-stack developer returning from a Working Holiday in New Zealand, where I was also able to grow my career. I am looking for a new challenge to continue my path as a developer. I love learning new technologies and sharing my knowledge and experience with my team members. I have no issues working under pressure and adapting to unforeseen circumstances. Throughout my career, I have worked in development agencies, the financial sector, and media. I always strive to produce clean and organized code, following the best UX/UI practices and creating modern, elegant, and intuitive designs.
